‘Projekt’ coup as Jay-z lines up for Bowl show

HIP hop legend Jay-Z and rockers Linkin Park are to perform a massive gig at The Bowl.

The rapper will line up alongside the US band on Sunday, June 29 for the first gig at the venue since Robbie Williams visited in September 2006.

Rumours are already building that an entourage of celebrities will follow Jay-Z to the Bowl after his headline performance at Glastonbury just 24 hours earlier.

His girlfriend Beyonce and friend Kanye West are set to make a surprise appearance at Glasto and could also form part of a 65,000 capacity crowd at Milton Keynes’ grass amphitheatre.

The rapper-rocker combo will team up to play their ‘Projekt Revolution’ for the first time in the UK, after years of touring America.

Already reaching legendary status in the US, Projekt Revolution has always defied the conventional, delivering cutting edge and revolutionary artists including the likes of My Chemical Romance, Ghostface Killah, Korn and Snoop Dogg on the same bill.

Tickets costing £45 each are expected to sell out within hours.

This very special one off show will be headlined by Linkin Park and will include a full live set from the incredible Jay-Z.

■ Tickets go on-sale at 9am on Friday, March 7 via a 24-Hour hotline on 08444 775 775 or online at www.aeglive.co.uk

Window cleaner denies murder of drug grower

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

A WINDOW cleaner accused of murdering 60-year-old Doug Belcher in a quiet Bletchley street has blamed the attack on a bungled raid by his fellow defendants.

Retired Mr Belcher was battered with a crowbar, thrown from the back of his own van and found dead in the road at his home in Tweed Drive, Far Bletchley, on April 2, 2007.

The gang which planned to seize his cannabis supply believed he had more than £200,000 worth growing in his home, but in fact he only had 66 plants.

As the murder trial resumed at Reading Crown Court yesterday, Benjamin Lloyd, of Trafalgar Avenue, Bletchley, said that his fellow accused had failed to stick to a plan and had gone to Mr Belcher’s house while he was at home.

In a statement read out in court, Lloyd claimed that two Somalians, Mahad Ali, 20, and Yussuf Mire, 19, should only have gone to the house to take money and cannabis. e said their plan had gone awry when they went too early and were disturbed during their raid.

Lloyd, who admits conspiracy to burgle but denies murder, told officers: “The plan was to take the money and cannabis when no one was in.

“I know he’s out at certain times. The Somalians decided to do it earlier than they should have done it. I have heard when they were there they got disturbed.”

Lloyd, aged 30, his brother Steven, 34, Ali and Mire, are all on trial for beating Mr Belcher, bundling him into a van and leaving him to die in the street.

All deny murder.

Last week the jury heard that Lloyd first met retired engineer Mr Belcher at his home and that he had gone to Mr Belcher’s house to clean windows and smoke cannabis, before plotting to come back later to steal his drugs.

Prosecutor Neil Moore said that Ali and Mire attacked the pensioner who was alone in his home, before putting him in the back of the van and driving away.

He said: “We know that one person was seen driving the van and we know that two people left the vehicle.

“What we do not know is whether Mr Belcher fell from the van or was pushed.”

The hury heard that the Lloyd brothers were waiting around the corner in a car and drove the duo to London. Officers found a crowbar covered in Mr Belcher’s blood in the back of the dumped van.

The Lloyd brothers were both arrested on April 7.

Ali, of Cecil Road, Harrow, Mire of Meryat Avenue, Harrow, Stephen Lloyd of Hospital Hill, Chesham, and Benjamin Lloyd admit conspiracy to burgle Mr Belcher’s home.

The Lloyd brothers also deny assisting an offender. The trial continues.

Cllr Mike Barry with Jillian Boys, Nick Coppock and Richard Hackman at the MK Big Bounce

Mayor's a sport as he starts hopper races

SPACE hoppers were dusted down as Sport Relief got a big boost in Middleton Hall when local companies joined in a Big Bounce yesterday.

Twenty teams battled round the specially built circuit in relay races to highlight the citys' host status for the big event on March 16.

Teams included two from MK Council, the Open University, The Parks Trust and thecentre:mk.

Shoppers got the chance to see company directors and chief executives bounce their through their lunch hour in a fiercely contested set of races started by Mayor Mike Barry.

The team from Quality Personal, Rebecca Walmsley, Clare Wass, Kellie Seiling and Charlotte Waller won through with 16 laps in three minutes collecting a specially engraved trophy and city-wide bouncing kudos.

Councillors to meet again on school build staffing issues

On-leave council boss still has job

On leave: John Best

BY ALICIA BABAEE
alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

THE council chief executive and senior officer blasted in a damning report are still employees of the council following last week's special meeting.

A cross-party panel was set up to deal with staffing issues arising from the heavily critical review which led to the resignation of cabinet member Euan Henderson.

Asked about chief executive John Best and the director of learning and development council leader Isobel McCall said: "The panel met last night and is meeting again in a few weeks. They are both still employees of this council.

"They are both on leave."

Two weeks ago MK NEWS exclusively broke the news that Mr Best had been heavily criticised in a damning second report on the council's school build programme.

Council leader Isobel McCall, who commissioned the report and later refused to say whether she had full confidence in the chief executive, has said she would not be surprised if serious disciplinary action is taken against members of the Corporate Leadership Team (CLT).

The scathing independent review tore the CLT, including the chief executive and the director of learning and development, Vanessa Gwynn, to shreds.

So far Mr Best has refused to comment on the report.

The latest report, which focuses on senior management practices, was carried out by Solace Enterpises senior associate, Richard Penn after an internal review in December highlighted major weaknesses in the school build programme.

Last year Giles Brook School in Tattenhoe was forced to close after the ceiling threatened to cave in.

Concerns were originally raised with the council in 2003 but the school did not close until 2006.

Exclusion zone set up after workshop fire

AN exclusion zone was set up for 24 hours after a fire broke out in a workshop containing gas cylinders.

The blaze broke out at Brian Currie's building in Summerson Road, Bleak Hall yesterday morning.

Buckinghamshire Fire & Rescue Service was called at 10.21am but the fire was already out when the crews from Bletchley and Broughton arrived.

However, the building contained acetylene cylinders and one was leaking gas, so a controlled hazard zone was set up.

This involves an evacuation and exclusion zone of 200 metres surrounding the unit. As a result a number of roads were closed.

Group Manager Darryl Keen, who attended the incident, said: "The cylinders have been exposed to heat and there was a risk of them exploding.

"A cooling period of 24 hours has been established and no one will be allowed within the exclusion zone during this time, including the crews.

"This is a precautionary measure to ensure the safety of both the public and the firefighters."

The crews will remain at the scene supervising the exclusion zone until 11am today (Wednesday) when the cooling period ends.

Police hitting the bottles in blitz on teenage drinkers

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

NEARLY 300 alcoholic drinks were confiscated from youths over two weeks as police clamped down on anti-social behaviour.

Operation Disrupt targeted youths who were drinking on the streets at night or behaving anti-socially.

Anyone under 18 caught drinking in public had their alcohol confiscated, while extra police patrols deterred anyone from anti-social behaviour.

Yesterday police unveiled the pile of bottles and cans that were confiscated from under-18s across Milton Keynes between February 8 and 24.

Chief Inspector Andy Standen, LPA Commander for Milton Keynes, said: "As the campaign went on we have started to seize less and less so the message is getting through.

"Reports of anti-social behaviour are definitely down.

"There is always the concern that you are displacing it to somewhere else but because this operation covered the whole area it worked."

The confiscated alcohol included 74 pints of bottled beer, 93 pints of canned beer, 21 pints of cider, 10 litres of spirits, eight litres of wine, four litres of alcopops.

Standing in front of the impressive collection at Milton Keynes Police station, Ch Insp Standen said: "I would like to use this to challenge parents with children under 18.

"What do families think their kids are doing and do they know where they are at night?

"This is about trying to protect kids.

"We will be carrying out operations like this more and more as we go through the year to make sure that people keep getting the message."

Operation Disrupt covered the half-term period and was coordinated with the help of the MK Community Safety Partnership, including MK Council, the Parks Trust and Trading Standards, who targeted off-licences and shops selling alcohol to children.

Last month MK NEWS went on the beat with police, PCSOs and specials from Wolverton, patrolling known hot spots and underpasses.

Officers also trialled three state-of-the-art head cams to capture evidence which can be used to apply for dispersal orders and ASBOs.

Some of the footage has been shown to parents to educate them about their children's nocturnal activities and the head cams proved so successful that the Force is planning to purchase more, at a cost of £900 each.

PC Chris Bird said: "The response from the public has been brilliant and they've been thanking us for our efforts. But the youths have also been very accepting and understanding with what we were doing."

Shop owner changed 'best before' dates

A SHOP owner has been given a suspended jail sentence after being found guilty of altering 'best before' dates.

Dev Persuad, who used to run the Devico shop in Netherfield that has now ceased trading, pleaded guilty to 15 charges under the Food Safety Act 1990 for possession for sale of food with misleading labelling at Aylesbury Crown Court on Monday.

Mr Persaud was given an eight-month prison sentence suspended for 18 months and 150 hours community service.

He was also ordered to pay £6,000 costs to Milton Keynes Council.

Persaud also pleaded guilty to a further 15 linked charges of altering the best before date without the permission of the manufacturer under the Food Labelling Regulations 1996.

Trading Standards officers for MKC began the investigation in June 2006, following a consumer complaint that best before dates were being altered.

Council officers were concerned as Persaud had only just pleaded guilty to similar offences and been fined in May 2006.

In June, officers took more than 200 samples of items that they believed had their best before dates altered.

Twelve statements were obtained from the manufacturers covering 88 of the products indicating that the best before dates had been altered without their permission.

Senior trading standards officer Deborah Charles said: "Innocent members of the public were cheated into buying inferior products.

"Dev Persaud's act undermines the trust the public expects to have in all shop keepers and he did this purely for financial gain."

MP has 'erred on the wrong side of caution'

SIR – MP Mark Lancaster should stop the waffle and answer the important questions about his political donations.

He has taken money from a company linked to a developer making profits from the expansion of MK.

He has failed to tell parliamentary authorities about this donation, he has asked questions in Parliament that relate directly to the interests of this company without declaring it and he campaigns against the very thing the company in question does, development.

He then appears to have attempted to conceal the source donation by registering it at the company's London rather than MK address.

Why is this? How can a donation of £2,000 not be financial?

He should answer directly without waffle.

It is not just a question of openness but one of integrity and probity, important issues he declares as 'drivel'.

I wonder will his next campaign be called 'I before mon-E'.

Peter Marland
Newport Road, New Bradwell

■ SIR – I knew that we are taking in the rubbish from London to dispose of, but I didn't know that it included Labour election candidate for Milton Keynes and London councillor Andrew Pakes and his gutter politics.

Maybe Mr Pakes would do better if he stayed down in London along with all the other rubbish the Labour Party tries to export up here.

At least Mark Lancaster fights for the ordinary man and woman, myself included, something Labour stopped doing many years ago.

Lynne Carter
Langcliffe Drive, Heelands

■ SIR – I was very interested to read Mark Lancaster's response to my query about him accepting money from a local property developer.

We should expect the highest ethical standards off all our politicians whether they are MPs like Mark or local councillors.

The reality is that last autumn Mark chose to accept a £2,000 donation from a property company with extensive links to the city.

He chose, however, to list the donation with the Electoral Commission from the company's Mayfair office rather than being open about its links to Milton Keynes.

So, if transparency about political donations is such a sensitive issue, why did Mark not come clean about his local links to this donation?

In last week's MK NEWS, Mark described the chief executive of the company as a personal friend, but when did it become acceptable for friends to use their company accounts to make political donations?

I have no doubt that Mark is a sincere person but believe that he erred on the wrong side of caution in accepting such a sensitive donation from a company involved in the expansion of the city.

He should also have declared an interest in Parliament regardless of the small print in the rules.

Andrew Pakes

Ferrets dig allotment holders out of a hole

SIR – It has been with much amusement that I have read the unfolding stories about the rabbits and various methods of controlling them both in allotments and other areas.

After the initial article regarding the rabbits and Margaret Burke's comments, I contacted the relevant town council and offered my services for free.

I have since been contacted by the council and I went to the allotments this Monday gone at their request, with a bag of nets and a few of my ferrets and caught the last of the allotment rabbits.

I must say that all the allotment holders I saw and spoke to that day all wanted the rabbits gone, I gave away the rabbits I caught that day to be eaten by the allotment holders that were present and in return one kind gent gave me several fresh beetroots.

The law is quite categoric – please look up the following Acts of Parliment: Agriculture Act 1947 and Pests Act 1954 – all landowners have a legal obligation to control rabbits.

I must admit that although I shoot, Ididn't think that the use of guns on an allotment was the best method, hence why I offered and was invited to use, nets and ferrets.

The ferrets chase the rabbits from their burrows and are caught in nets as they leave the warren and are then humanely despatched by hand.

Thanks to the relevant people for my day's hunting and I hope the people I gave the rabbits to enjoyed their organic, gm-free, free range and very low fat meals from the rabbits.

Also thanks for the beetroots which will accompany a pheasant I shot!

Rabbits will breach rabbit fencing, and I am sure I will be back at the allotments after the summer, rabbit control is a fact of life, they are impossible to eliminate and will always be present where there are food sources available.

I personally feel that ferreting is the best way of dealing with rabbits, it doesn't affect any none-target species, it is humane (its endorsed by Greenpeace – the only pest control method that is) and it provides shot-free meat for the food chain.

In a (rabbit) stew

SIR – Oh dear, I do seem to have ruffled the feathers of the hunting-shooting brigade in the guise of Messrs Carder, Tripp and Banks aka the rabbit killers.

To answer them all, yes its true, I am a bunny hugger and a town-dweller, although I am sure the many rural-based friends of mine are most insulted that you suggest they are in any way like you.

I must own up that I am not an Oddie-ite. He gets up far too early in the morning for me (must be a country thing).

I believe it is morally unforgivable to kill for pleasure and it is a fact that cruelty to animals goes hand in hand with cruelty to people.

You all keep ranting on that shooting rabbits is the most humane way; says who?

Your ilk will always insist this in order to satisfy your bloodlust.

Shooting is quicker than live trapping but had the New Bradwell Parish Council installed the rabbit proof fencing, then live trapped the rabbits inside and releasing them outside would obviously have been the most humane method.

After all, the end result should not have been to kill the rabbits but to remove the rabbits from the allotments.

By the way, yes both myself (a Ms by the way not Mrs) and Ms Bonarius are veggies, in fact we are vegans and I will accept your apology Mr Banks.

You have the cheek to lecture me on battery farming in order to mitigate your blasting away anything that moves.

Further, you state that rabbits have the chance of escaping when being hunted by yourself.

Not so the poor rabbits in the New Bradwell allotments where the hunters were putting ferrets into all the crevices and the terriers were waiting in slavering anticipation.

As to slug pellets, no we do not use them, again there are other methods to deter pests from the allotment (more's the pity I could find no method to deter the biggest pest – the rabbit killers).

Must go now, cooking my healthy, high protein, low fat bean burgers before going out to buy some new sandals.

Peace and love to you all.

Margaret Burke

Red light district

SIR –After the prolonged and almost universal criticism of the planners' apparent rejection of the highly successful grid road system in MK's expansion areas and vociferous opposition to the introduction of traffic lights, I am very surprised to see no comment on these views in the transport section of the March issue of the council's LiveMK magazine which has been circulated throughout the city.

Instead, using very questionable computer modelling, the traffic light 'solution' is once again presented as if it were a fait accompli.

It likens the planning of Milton Keynes to a child's computer game.

Can we not have a detailed and reasoned statement based upon accurate information, past local experience and human common sense rather an unnatural and potentially flawed computer simulation ?

Everyone knows that computer output merely reflects the quality and accuracy of data input and the software parameters which manipulate it.

One of the displays, for example, depicts an unrealistic situation with a large vehicle halted unnecessarily at a single entry roundabout with an empty road in front and, presumably, creating a totally artificial tailback behind it.

It is stated that the Western Expansion Area will be equivalent to a town the size of Newport Pagnell.

Newport Pagnell has no traffic lights and works, after a fashion, with a limited number of roundabouts.

The same is true of Bletchley where, in spite of the congestion at the B&Q junction, the traffic moves and does not have to wait at eternally red lights.

The Blackpool-like lights along Bletcham Way by Asda and the Stadium make this a route to be avoided if possible.

Of course there are difficulties at peak times (where in England is there not?) but roundabouts maximise the use of junctions, as many as six or eight cars can be using the junction at all times, and traffic, though slow, continues to move.

At traffic light-controlled junctions, 'intelligent' or not, there are significant moments, every minute or so, when the lights are all at red/amber, the junction is empty, queues begin, and pollution, noise, fuel consumption and frustration are all increased.

The Milton Keynes Development Corporation has to take the credit for the system of grid roads and roundabouts which have made our city so successful, safe and admired.

It left a legacy of wide land corridors and infrastructure for the dualling of all grid roads and for future alternative transport systems.

If this dualling is completed throughout the city and extended into the new development areas, with pedestrian underpasses and overbridges and if roundabouts are provided with three-lane entry and two-lane exits then public,commercial and private transport problems will be minimised for the foreseeable future.

Crunch time: Police and ambulance crews on the scene of an accident on V10 near Willen

Spate of accidents causes road chaos

Woman dies in one of a series of city crashes

EMERGENCY crews were called to a number of serious accidents across the city including one where a 38-year-old woman died.

The woman was killed when she was hit by a car as she crossed a dual carriageway.

She was walking across the H6 Childs Way in Fishermead at around 1.40am on Saturday morning when she was hit by a silver Toyota Yaris travelling westbound.

She was pronounced dead at the scene but the driver of the Yaris was not injured.

Police cordoned off the road for three hours to allow collision investigators to begin their investigation.

Two cars (pictured) were wrecked by an accident on a grid road in Willen. Police were called to the incident on the V10, Brickhill Street at 3.50pm on Monday.

A brown Toyota Hilux collided with the back of a white BMW 319I whilst travelling southbound, just before the junction with the H5 Portway.

A spokesman for the police said no one was injured, but both cars were recovered as they were too damaged to drive.

In another accident a woman had to be cut from a car after it collided with another vehicle on Standing Way on Monday night.

The incident happened at around 8.40pm at the junction with Newport Road, Woughton on the Green.

A black Honda Jazz collided with a yellow Peugeot 106.

Fire crews from Broughton and Bletchley attended along with station manager Gary Taylor.

Firefighters cut a woman out of the Peugeot by removing the roof.

She was taken to Milton Keynes General Hospital.

The driver of the Honda was also taken to hospital with minor injuries. Police closed the road until 10pm.

A grid road was closed until midday after a motorcyclist was seriosuly injured in a collision.

At 7.23am on Monday a Ford Transit van and a Suzuki motorcycle collided at the junction of the V6 Grafton Street and Fingle Drive, near Wolverton.

The road was closed until around 12pm to allow collision investigators to examine the scene.

The motorcyclist, a 46-year-old man, is in a critical condition in Milton Keynes General Hospital and the 59-year-old van driver is also being treated.

His condition is described as serious but stable.

■ Anyone who witnessed these collisions can contact the Police Enquiry Centre on 08458 505505 or call Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555111.

Vodka-swilling girl lay collapsed in park as ambulance was sent to town 50 miles away

A TEENAGE girl who collapsed after drinking vodka at a skate park was left without aid because an ambulance was sent to the wrong town 50 miles away.

The crew was sent to the village of Grove, near Leighton Buzzard in Bedfordshire not Grove in Wantage, Bucks following an error at the Milton Keynes control centre on February 22.

A 14-year-old girl collapsed in a skate park in Grove, near Wantage. But when a passer-by phoned 999 at 7.02pm, the control centre dispatched the crew to the Buckinghamshire village – two counties away.

South Central Ambulance Service's paramedics were sent from Milton Keynes to look for a skate park in Grove, which they could not find.

Meanwhile the teenager who needed help was lying more than 50 miles away.

It was not until 7.43pm that the control centre received another call, this time from a police community support officer, who said the ambulance still had not turned up.

The girl, who was by this time conscious and breathing, was finally reached by ambulance staff nearly an hour after the first call, at 7.50pm.

Alison Brumfitt, spokesman for South Central Ambulance Service, said: "We are still holding an investigation as to why this happened.

"Obviously it is regrettable. We take thousands of calls every year and would like to say that this is very rare.

"But we are doing absolutely everything in our power to ensure it doesn't happen again."

South Central Ambulance Service covers Buckinghamshire, Berkshire, Hampshire and Oxfordshire.

MK LETTERS EXTRA

Letters to The Editor, MK NEWS, 1 Diamond Court, Fox Milne, Milton Keynes MK15 0DU | letters@mk-news.co.uk

Tories could have cut council tax increase

SIR – Last week's budget debate (Council tax tops 4 per cent) showed a real difference between the three parties.

This has got lost in the focus on the personality spats which occurred.

Conservatives proposed cutting back the Lib Dem 3.9 per cent rise to 3.5 per cent, with no extra cuts in jobs or services.

This was the result of hard work, looking at the books properly. It was a truly costed and viable proposal.

Labour did no work at all and had nothing to offer the people of MK who are hard pressed by higher inflation than the official figures admit.

All we had was a series of platitudes from their leader.

So what happens? Just because it was a good Conservative idea it was attacked as a matter of tribal instinct.

Forget the common-sense, the realism, the help to taxpayers; just let us bash them because that is what Lib Dems do.

The Lib Dems are in trouble because of the huge waste of money on the school build fiasco so they are reduced to attack instead of positive thinking.

Voters are asked to recognise why this should be. Answer: the MK Conservatives got it right at 3.5 per cent and we are confident that we could deliver more of the same if allowed to do so by the electors on May 1.

David Tunney
Conservative finance spokesman

Oust parish pump

SIR – Your readers may not be aware that there will be parish council elections across Bletchley on May 1.

These elections only happen once every four years.

In Bletchley, council taxpayers hand over nearly £2million to West Bletchley Council and Bletchley and Fenny Stratford Town Council. This is on top of the council tax that they already pay to MK Council.

They deserve to know what really happens to their hard-earned cash. For example, this year, West Bletchley parish councillors voted themselves allowances of over £600 per year each.

Yet most parish councillors in Bletchley get themselves elected unopposed because no one else bothers to stand.

I'm getting together a group of real, local candidates from across Bletchley to stand against the politicians in the parish council elections in May.

Please e-mail me at bletchley-first@live.co.uk to get involved.

Maria Nemeth

Pride in strikers

SIR – I would like to put on record my intense pride in the members of ASLEF Bletchley Branch, train drivers at Bletchley and Northampton, whose steadfastness and solidarity have brought a successful outcome to the former Silverlink pensions dispute.

Due to Silverlink's misapplication of pension contributions, many longer-serving drivers stood to lose thousands of pounds per year in pension entitlement through absolutely no fault of their own.

While deeply regrettable in their effect on passengers, our three days of strike action last October and November, combined with patience during difficult negotiations, has resulted in assurances that the monies will be restored.

I am especially proud of the role played by our newer members who were not affected by the misapplication of pension contributions.

This was truly a dispute where union members took hands-on ownership of the issue and brought it to a satisfactory, and fair conclusion.

Readers can draw their own conclusions as to the veracity of the claims from our former employers, owned by National Express Group, now that their successors have acknowledged the problem and agreed to fund it's resolution.

We are, of course, grateful that London Midland have seen fit to make good the managerial error committed by their predecessors, though a little disappointed that it took the prospect of our trade union re-imposing strike action to persuade them it was a necessary course of action.

I would also like to thank the many members of the public including rail passengers who offered their support to us during the dispute. While we are sorry for last year's 3 days of inconvenience, we are not sorry that we did it because a gross financial injustice would have been perpetrated on a group of innocent workers had we not.

Graham Cooper
Chairman, ASLEF Bletchley Branch

Schools timetable

SIR – Mr Baker's allegations (Letters last week) have no foundation in fact.

The council's cabinet gave the go-ahead for Oakgrove and Hazeley on 16 October last year – subject to funding.

Approval for funding is normally given when the first contracts have to be tendered.

On December 13 the council's professional officers, aware of our Government funding shortfall but also of the need to tender contracts in the New Year, asked which schools should have priority.

I indicated the completion of Waterhall and Tattenhoe, then Hazeley and Oakgrove, and then the extension of Wellsmead and Rivers in Bletchley.

On January 15, officers confirmed that this appeared possible within current resources and also pointed out that if Hazeley and Oakgrove were stopped then design fees already incurred would have to be set against council tax. Figures were checked a final time and formal approval for tenders to be sought was given on January 23.

A non-PC world: Computer cognoscenti queue at MK's new Apple store

WHAT do you do if you've got a question about your Apple computer? Go to the bar of course.

The new Apple Store opened its doors for the first time on Saturday.

The Midsummer Place store is packed with all the latest must-have computers, iPods, gadgets and gizmos and there was no shortage of people queueing to get a look.

Hundreds were waiting outside for the 9.30am opening, some had got there as early as 7am.

One of the quirkiest features is the store's Genius Bar which gives customers the chance to get face-to-face support and creative help.

The shop also offers personal training through Apple's new One to One programme with sessions on topics from getting started with a Mac or iPhone to movie making and digital photography.

'Idiot' football fan fined for boozing

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

A JUDGE has labelled a football fan an 'idiot' after he was caught drinking whisky inside stadiummk.

David Hyatt, 49, pleaded not guilty to possession of a whisky bottle during a sporting event.

Bizzarely, Hyatt accepted that he had swigged from the bottle, during the Under-21 international friendly between England and Bulgaria on November 16 last year.

District Judge English listened to witnesses including stewards, police and other football fans, who described the events leading up to Hyatt's arrest.

The court heard that Hyatt entered the ground 10 minutes late, before taking a seat in front of a group of children on a day out with their youth team.

He proceeded to eat an assortment of dips using his fingers, before tucking into a tin of artichokes.

Hyatt, from Amhurst Park, London, then took a swig from a 20cl quarter bottle of whisky.

Representing himself in court, Hyatt said: "I was allowed to get into the ground with these items.

"I can't be guilty because I was allowed in by the steward."

Hyatt was led away from his seat by stewards but refused to let them search his bags, before asking to speak to the police.

Outside the ground he was arrested by officers for questioning but refused to be let off with a caution at the station.

District Judge English said: "Ignorance of the law allows no defence whatsoever.

"The mere possession of alcohol within sight of the playing area is an offence full stop.

"Nobody can give you permission to break the law.

"I believe you were offered a caution – you are an idiot not to have taken advantage of that."

Hyatt was found guilty, handed a conditional discharge and ordered to pay £200 legal costs.

Consultant suspended after alleged hospital assault

A HOSPITAL consultant is being investigated following an alleged assault on another member of staff.

MK NEWS understands that the consultant concerned has been suspended following reports of an incident on Friday, February 22.

A spokesman for Milton Keynes Hospital Trust said it was policy not to reveal any details about employees or incidents currently under investigation.

She added: "An alleged incident involving two members of staff has taken place and this is currently being assessed by the trust.

"We can assure you that we take all allegations of violence in the workplace very seriously, and that these are investigated thoroughly and that appropriate action is taken. The trust works to ensure a safe working environment for all staff and there is an on-site police officer, paid for by the trust, to help guarantee safe working conditions and facilitate the reporting of incidents."

Brrraless: Lorraine O'Mahoney (first left) joins Nell McAndrew launches Naked Training for Race for Life

Race for Lifers go topless training

A WOMAN from Milton Keynes joined model Nell McAndrew to launch Cancer Research UK's Race for Life 2008.

Lorraine O'Mahoney, alongside 25 other women who have been affected by individual cancer experiences, stripped in London to take part in a topless training session.

The women braved the cold weather with only strategically body-painted running outfits covering their modesty.

Three years ago Lorraine, from Downs Barn, was diagnosed with breast cancer just months after learning she was pregnant with her first child.

Since being given the all clear she has become a key part in Cancer Research UK's campaign to get women involved in the Race for Life event.

Lorraine said: "When I first heard the idea of a naked training session I was a bit nervous, but once I met the rest of the women and heard everyone's moving and inspirational stories we all flung off our robes and didn't want to stop. It's so important that any woman who sees this realises that they too can be part of Race for Life and help change lives. I think when it comes round to the Race for Life event though; I'll keep my clothes on!

"I felt so liberated today and I can show that there is life after having a breast off. I couldn't do Race for Life two years ago because I was undergoing chemotherapy but I managed to do it last year and I felt so proud. My little boy was so excited to see mummy cross the finishing line. Race for Life is fantastic because you realise you are not alone in being affected by cancer but that together you can help beat it."

Race for Life 2008, the largest women-only fundraising event in Britain, starts at the beginning of May until the end of July.

Women are invited to walk, jog or run 5 kilometres at over 260 events across the UK this summer. The charity is hoping that 750,000 women will come together and help raise over £50 million for research into all forms of cancer.

Women can enter Race for Life 2008 by visiting www.raceforlife.org or calling 0871 641 2282.

MP has no case to answer on donation

THE Parliamentary Commissioner for Standards has dropped a case against MP Mark Lancaster.

Last week we reported how the Labour candidate for Mr Lancaster's Milton Keynes North East seat, Andrew Pakes, requested an investigation into the MP for failing to declare a £2,000 donation from a property developer.

However, the donation was registered with the Electoral Commission and the commissioner confirmed this week that the case would not be pursued.

Mr Lancaster said: "I have received a letter from the Parliamentary Commissioner for Standards confirming that he has looked at the complaint and does not feel that I have a case to answer which I hope rather puts this to bed. As for Mr Pakes and his allegation that I am trying to hide something – given that I have registered it and clearly stated who gave me the money, I am at a slight loss as to how I am hiding anything.

"I am flattered that the Labour Party and Mr Pakes have resorted to such drivel so far ahead of the General Election, it just shows how desperate they have become."

Remotes win by a distance

A SPECIAL race day took place on Sunday to mark the 10th anniversary of the MK Remote Control Car Club.

Around 35 members and visitors joined the celebrations at Wolverton Hall for a day of racing.

The event attracted local drivers as well as enthusiasts from further afield.

Drivers raced around a custom made track with scale replica models of saloon and Le Mans-type cars.

The overall winner, Paul Upton from Northampton, picked up a prize Easter egg for his efforts, snatching victory by just over one second.

Club secretary Ian Devonshire said: "It was a very close race.

"We also encourage kids to come along because it's a great way to learn about engineering without even knowing it."

For more information about the MK Remote Control Car Club contact Ian on 07917 021379 or visit www.mkrctc.org.

‘Please help my son lose weight’

Desperate mum claims local health services are doing nothing to help Jack stop eating everything in sight

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

A MUM has appealed for help after berating local health services for ‘doing nothing’ to help her overweight son.

New figures for Milton Keynes show that 10.1 per cent of children aged four to five are obese, rising to 17.7 per cent for 10 to 11-year-olds.

But mother-of-two Michelle Asquith, from New Bradwell, said she has been trying desperately to get help for her eight-year-old, but has been turned away.

Ms Asquith said: “There’s no help for him.

“He eats like there’s no tomorrow.

“I have to shop day by day because if it’s in here he’ll eat it.

“If I’ve got frozen profiteroles for Sunday dinner he will take them out and eat them frozen.

“People say it’s down to the parents but what are you supposed to do? I’ve tried everywhere but they’ve refused to help him.”

An appointment at Milton Keynes hospital revealed that her son, Jack, is two-and-a-half stone overweight, at six stone 10 pounds.

But Ms Asquith said that the hospital, dieticians, health visitor and TOAST (The Obesity Awareness and Solutions Trust) could not help.

She said: “He needs medical help and counselling.

“The dietician couldn’t see him because he said he was so busy.

“My little boy’s getting bigger and bigger every day.

“He’s two stone heavier than his 10-year-old sister and now he suffers from bullying at school.

“This is an appeal for help.”

Milton Keynes PCT is currently taking part in the Government’s Child Measurement Programme which is designed identify children who are, or who are in danger of becoming obese, by checking their height and weight.

The figures showed that of the 88 per cent of children aged four to five, 14.3 per cent were overweight.

Of the 81 per cent of children weighed and measured aged 10 to 11, 14.2 per cent were overweight.

Dr Diane Gray, MKPCT’s Consultant in Public Health Medicine, said: “We’re really proud of our school nursing team and our schools in Milton Keynes who have together helped ensure that over 80 per cent of all children in Reception Class and Year 6 have been measured.

“Obesity is a growing problem in Milton Keynes and can cause serious health problems such as diabetes and stroke.

“Over 90 per cent of obese children grow up to be obese adults so it’s vitally important to address overweight and obesity in children as well as adults.”

A statement from MKPCT said: “In the near future, the PCT plans to expand the support that the NHS can provide to children and adults who are overweight or obese.

“But good habits start at home: a healthy balanced diet along with at least an hour’s physical activity a day can go a long way to achieving a health weight.”

MKPCT also wants to promote the Milton Keynes Children’s Activity Referral Scheme (CARS), which can help encourage children and young people aged between five to 16 to take part in activities.

Canal boat baby died in mother’s arms

A BABY died in his mother’s arms shortly after he was taken home from hospital, an inquest has heard.

Kevin David Cranston was only 55 days old when he died on Wednesday, February 20.

He was just over three weeks premature when he was born at Milton Keynes Hospital on December 28 last year and weighed only three pounds 14 ounces. or 22 days he was kept at the hospital for observation before being sent home with his parents, who live on a canal boat in Peartree Bridge marina.

During his time at home the baby gained weight and on Tuesday, February 19 his mother, Kay Morton, fed him at 11pm before he fell asleep in her arms.

Early next morning she awoke still holding him but the baby was unresponsive, the inquest heard.

He was taken to Milton Keynes Hospital but the medical team was unable to revive him and he was confirmed dead in the A&E department at 5.26am.

The inquest, which is awaiting the results of a post-mortem, was adjourned until July.

New start date for prison workshop and clasrooms

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.couk

A CITY MP and prison governor have won the fight to save plans to build an inmates' workshop at Woodhill.

As reported in MK News in July, MP for Milton Keynes South West, Dr Phyllis Starkey, and Luke Serjeant, Governor of HMP Woodhill, were concerned that a planned inmates' workshop was put on hold.

They were campaigning to keep funding for the development of a purpose-built workshop together with six additional classrooms at the prison.

The scheme will provide 120 full-time or many more part-time opportunities for work or training for prisoners at Woodhill, which the Governor and MP claim are crucial to reduce re-offending on release

It was approved by the National Offender Management Service during 2006, after a proposal for the workshop was put forward in response to a report from Her Majesty's Chief Inspector of Prisons, published in January that year.

The report highlighted the lack of training available at the prison, stating: 'It was not the fault of managers and staff that the prison had, astonishingly, been built 13 years ago without any workshops.'

The start date for the scheme was originally set for April 2007. This was put off until September, then a further delay was announced until April 2008 due to the need for funding to provide more prisoner places nationally.

Recycling depot: Now Woodhill prisoners will get a purpose-built workshop

Woodhill governor Luke Serjeant.

The Government has now set aside funding to go ahead with the build in 2009.

Mr Serjeant said he will be keeping up pressure for this scheme to remain in the programme.

"I guess there are members of the public who would ask why tax payers' money should be spent on a prison," he said.

"I believe our job is to protect the public and it is vital that we have these facilities if we are to reduce the risks that some of our prisoners present when they leave prison.

"It is hard enough for ex-prisoners to find employment and for those with no training or skills this is even more difficult. "If they leave prison and are unable to find work this significantly increases the chances of them returning to a life of crime and, that could mean that more of us have our houses or cars broken into or more people being mugged walking around our city."

Dr Phyllis Starkey, MP, addressed this issue in the Commons on June 7 2007, when she asked the Leader of the House for an urgent debate on funding for training in prisons.

"The new workshop is absolutely essential for Woodhill to provide prisoners with the training they need if they are to lead useful lives once they are released at the end of their sentences," she said.

Cops out as council goes on dog patrol

A DEDICATED hotline dealing with stray dogs is being launched.

It will be set up from April to support local authorities in their new role taking over sole responsibility for stray dogs from the police.

From April 6, Milton Keynes Council has responsibility for collecting stray dogs out of office hours as well as during the normal working day.

In the past, especially outside normal working hours when the council dog warden was off duty, anyone finding a stray dog would have to take it to the central police station.

Now the council will offer an improved service by collecting stray dogs direct from residents' homes – within a few hours in most cases.

The dog warden will continue to respond to sightings of stray dogs during office hoursand a register of stray dogs found will now be kept by the council instead of the police.

It is hoped to make the register available on the council's website to make it easier for strays to be reunited with their owners.

The hotline number is 01908 252187 (office hours between 8am - 5pm); out of office hours on the Community Alarm Centre number on 01908 226699.

Trees beware: Retiring fireman Mick Carson is presented with a commemorative firefighter's axe by Assistant Chief Fire Officer Andy Hickmott

Retiring fireman had a ball!

A FIREMAN who has been in charge of every fire station in Milton Keynes has retired.

Station commander Mick Carson enjoyed a 30-year career with the service after joining in 1978, following two years in the Army Fire Service.

Mick said: "This is a career that's second to none. I have been so lucky, this is absolutely the best career because it is so interesting, enjoyable and absorbing.

"I can look back over 30 years of achievement – it's been a ball."

Mick became a training instructor for three years before being appointed station commander at Broughton Fire Station in 1985. He was the first station commander at Great Holm Fire Station, which opened in December 1989 and moved to Bletchley Fire Station in 2003, before taking on additional responsibility for Buckingham Fire Station in 2006.

In a joint statement, Chief Fire Officer, Damian Smith, and Buckinghamshire and Milton Keynes Fire Authority Chairman, Councillor David Rowlands, said: "We would like to thank Mick for his loyalty and dedication to Buckinghamshire Fire & Rescue Service and wish him a long and happy retirement."

Litter lout cabbie's fare was enforcement officer

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

Householder bags fine for putting her rubbish out early and two smokers cough up for dropping butts in city

A CABBIE who threw a drink can out of his taxi, smokers who dropped cigarettes butts and a woman who left her rubbish bags out for days have all paid the price for littering.

All three were fined at Milton Keynes Magistrates Court on Friday, after action was brought against them by enforcement officers at Milton Keynes Council.

Cab driver Guldad Khan was caught red-handed by his passenger, a council litter enforcement officer, throwing a drinks can out of his vehicle, the court heard.

Despite requests from the council officer to pick up the tin Mr Khan of Passmore, Tinkers Bridge refused and drove off at speed in the early hours of September 29 last year.

However, the council officer was able to get the registration number and after further investigation Mr Khan was tracked down.

Mr Khan refused to take a fixed penalty notice and his case was sent to court, where in his absence he was fined £150 and costs of £377.78 awarded to MK Council on Friday.

Householder Michelle Millar was ordered to pay hundreds of pounds to the council after leaving out rubbish days before it was due to be collected in July 2007.

Miss Millar, of Serpentine Court, was fined £100 and ordered to pay £150 costs at Milton Keynes Magistrates Court on Friday.

Enforcement action was taken after she failed to pay a £100 fixed penalty for leaving her rubbish out four days before her normal collection day.

The council says leaving out black bags before they are due to be collected can attract rats and other vermin posing a public health risk.

Shaun Greig, enforcement co-ordinator with the Safer Communities Unit, said: "Bags placed out before collection can get ripped apart by animals and litter gets blown around in the wind.

"It is a shame that a few spoil the area for the rest of the residents."

Also on Friday, two smokers who were caught dropping cigarette butts in the city centre in September 2007 were fined.

Enforcement action was taken after they failed to pay fixed penalty notices.

Andrew Payne and Laura Miller, in two separate cases, were fined £100 and £150 respectively with costs of £377.78 being awarded to the council in respect of both incidents.

The move to prosecute smoking litter bugs followed a high profile campaign to educate the public about the need to dispose of cigarette butts responsibly, as 40 per cent of all street litter is smoking related.

Cash in on club's choc dosh

Easter bunnies: Buddha Blue doormen Danial Bralant and Carl Cappellano are ready to take your Easter eggs for entry to the club

A NIGHTCLUB is taking Easter eggs as currency on its door during March.

Hard cash won't be necessary if you can offer up an Easter egg instead.

But it's not a bid to fatten up the staff as each egg will be collected, stored and eventually distributed to youngsters in Peartree Bridge.

Buddha Blue has teamed up with community arts charity Inter-Action MK to make this Easter one to remember.

From March 1, doorstaff at Buddha Blue will accept all chocolate 'donations' of one egg per person and in return they can get in absolutely free. ntry usually costs £5.

And on Good Friday general manager Robin Lyle has promised to dress in a full bunny outfit.

He said: "We have a great month of entertainment and offers lined up to make this Easter an extra special one for our customers. But at the same time, we want to give something to youth projects around Milton Keynes, which is why we have linked up with Inter-Action MK."

Elizabeth Gilbert, project manager at Inter-Action MK, said: "We are pleased that Buddha Blue wants to show its support for the work that Inter-Action does with young people around Milton Keynes. We will distribute the donated eggs to the children and young people who attend Shed MK, Inter-Action's inclusive performing arts project.

"This will be a great end of term surprise for them, rewarding their achievements."

Further information about the donation can be requested by calling Buddha Blue on 01908 241243 or text 'bblue' to 07800003282 for free.

1,000 sign up for Sports Relief Mile

MORE than a 1,000 people have signed up to run in the Sainsbury's Sports Relief Miles due to be held in the city centre later this month.

Milton Keynes is one of the flagship races to be selected for the charity run to take part over 1, 3 and six miles to raise cash for vulnerable people living incredibly tough lives both at home in the UK and in the world's poorest countries.

To enter the event at 11am on Sunday, March 16, all people need to do is either visit www.sportsrelief.com or drop in to a nearby Sainsbury's for an entry form.

A limited number of on the day entries will be accepted for the charity runs with the first wave starting at 11am and the second at 12 noon.

However, to allow runners to take part safely the following roads will be closed from 6am until 9pm on Sunday March 16, Midsummer Boulevard, part of Witan Gate and part of Silbury Boulevard

From 6pm on Saturday, March 15 parking areas within the area of the road closures will also be off limits to parked cars as marquees, toilets and other facilities are put in place for the big charity event the next day.

Disabled spectators and participants on production of a blue badge will have access to designated parking area on the day within the road closure area.

Gin Corrado, event coordinator for the council, said: "We are absolutely delighted by the fantastic response so far as Milton Keynes is one of the centres that is leading the way in the UK with more than a 1,000 entrants already signed up for the event."

Raring to go: Gareth Edds (MK Dons), John Best, Ales Parez (MK Lighting), Mike Barry and Peter Heizer (MK Lions) encourage you to go the mile for Sports Relief at the regional launch at Bannatynes Health Club in CBX

Guide will end 'mum I'm bored' complaints

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

FINDING out what's on and where to go with children in Milton Keynes can be hard.

That's why a local mum has produced an eye-catching guide to help fellow parents in the city.

The guide, called Raring2go!, is packed with colourful pages of information about local events, activities and services for the under 11s.

Creator Susan Ringsell, who lives in the High Street, Ridgmont, said: "As a parent of young children myself, I know how difficult it can be to find out what's going on in the local area and I've lived here for over 12 years.

"Parents are even sometimes unaware of the local gems literally on the doorstep.

Susan Ringsell with copies of Raring2go! outside eco-park

"So I've really made it my mission to pack the guide full of local information on all types of children's activities and events as well as information and ideas for parents."

The guide includes the latest deals at Woburn Abbey and Safari Park, Gullivers Land and Eco Park, Xscape and many others, as well as information on eating out with kids – with a review of the 'restaurant of the season' – clubs and classes, getting active, shopping and useful websites for parents.

The first is being delivered free to parents or carers through schools in the run up to the Easter holidays.

It is also available at libraries, nurseries, play groups, leisure centres, play centres and doctors' surgeries.

To get a local school or meeting place put on the distribution list or to promote your local business or event in the guide, e-mail miltonkeynes@raring2go.co.uk or call Susan on 01525 288153 or 07738 512523.

Pub manager stole more than £5,000

A PUB manager has escaped a prison sentence after stealing more than £5,000 from the pub she was running in Milton Keynes.

Rachel Paine, 27, former manager of the Swan Inn, in Broughton Road, Middleton, will serve 150 hours of unpaid work after stealing £5,310 from the pub, owned by Little Gems Country Dining Ltd.

Her partner, Abderrazzak Azhar, 41, was convicted for dishonestly receiving the stolen money and handed the same community sentence.

The theft took place on January 8 and both defendants, who are now living at the YMCA in Central Milton Keynes, pleaded guilty.

They were sentenced at Milton Keynes Magistrates' Court last Friday.

In addition to a community service order both received a three-month suspended prison sentence and magistrates ordered them each to pay costs of £60.

Is Big Brother watching you watch Big Brother?

Are there really detector vans capable of seeing through the walls of houses to catch TV licence-dodgers – or are they just propaganda? GARRICK ALDER reports from behind the sofa

I DO not own a television – haven't done for some years.

I am prone enough to slobbing out as it is and most TV programmes are, frankly, crap.

Little did I know, however, that my lifestyle choice would drag me into a never-ending battle with a faceless and aggressively robotic bureaucracy.

And on the way I found out one or two very interesting things.

It all started in 2006 when the TV Licensing Authority (TVLA) began to write me snotty letters demanding that I pay for a TV licence.

I say they wrote to 'me' but in fact the TVLA called me 'Dear Occupier' – pretty pathetic considering I was on the electoral register.

Out of smug non-TV-owning mischief, I sent the letters back, often with slightly rude comments written on the envelope.

This seemed to excite them even more until one day last year I received a letter stating that the TVLA had obtained a search warrant for my flat.

Since you can't have a search warrant without a name on it, I wrote back telling them to sling their proverbial hook.

The long-awaited knock at the door never came and eventually I moved house.

Now call me old-fashioned but I am strangely attached to the British legal principle that you are innocent until proven guilty.

'Everyone else owns a TV so you must be hiding one' doesn't strike me as very solid legal grounds for suspicion let alone action.

You have to register televisions when you buy them, so there is no reason why TVLA shouldn't have a list of unlicensed televisions.

And then I thought: "But they have detector vans.

"They should KNOW I don't have a TV."

And then it struck me that I had never seen a TV detector van, or heard of anyone who had.

So I went digging for information.

I found that in 2003, the TVLA announced that it can remove the livery from its detector vans, making them 'indistinguishable from any other white van'.

To me that sounds suspiciously like a load of old cobblers designed to make licence-dodgers paranoid about perfectly normal white vans (and can that be legal?).

The TVLA also claimed: 'The equipment can pinpoint the actual room that the television set is in"

This would be technology even more accurate than that used to steer guided missiles, so I was anxious to find out how it worked.

The TVLA claims: 'The technology is so secret that even the engineers working on different detection systems worked in isolation – not even they know how the other detection methods work.'

This sounds even more like a scare story, so I went digging again.

A 2002 report from the National Audit Office (NAO) stated: "Detector vans make it easier to establish that an offence is likely to be taking place.

"TVLA will still need to secure further evidence for successful prosecution."

Aha!

In other words, even if they worked as described (which I doubted) detector vans can't be constantly policing the UK's streets – that would be an exercise bigger than the D-Day landings, every day of the week.

Crucially for my growing conspiracy theory, the NAO report adds: 'Detection equipment has been used in conjunction with targeted advertising to act as a visible deterrent.'

But if TVLA apparently doesn't even check the electoral register and certainly can't secure a prosecution using a detector van alone, how does it do it?

I spoke to some known licence-dodgers.

They weren't difficult to find: 48 were prosecuted at Bedford Magistrates' Court in January alone.

Understandably they wanted to remain anonymous.

Of seven agreeing to speak, none had seen a TV detector van and recalled that no detector van evidence was mentioned in court.

They had just had the misfortune to answer the door while watching daytime TV illegally.

I was finally convinced that the TVLA worked from a database of addresses and that its sinister detector vans are just a scare story.

But with any theory like this, eventually the time comes to put up or shut up.

A TVLA spokesman said: "Television detector vans certainly do exist and we use them in conjunction with our database of over 29 million addresses.

"Search warrants are usually served upon an address rather than a named individual. TVLA would not be able to obtain a search warrant from a magistrate without reasonable evidence to confirm our suspicions.

"We don't presume that everyone is guilty of committing an offence and we do try to ensure that non-viewers are not overly troubled by our enquiries, and that we don't cause unnecessary upset.

In at the deep end for sky-dive swim champ

A CELEBRITY skydive at Airkix has raised over £15,000 for charity.

The event, held at the wind tunnel in Central Milton Keynes on Wednesday February 27, raised money for research into a painful disease called Raynaud's.

Broadcaster and journalist Nick Ross and Olympic gold medallist David Wilkie MBE took part alongside Anne Mawdsley MBE, founder and chief executive of the Raynaud's & Scleroderma Association (RSA).

The skydive was a particular challenge for Mrs Mawdsley as she has both Raynaud's and scleroderma.

Raynaud's, which affects up to 10 million people in the UK, is a distressing condition in which the blood is temporarily prevented from reaching the fingers and toes.

In its most severe form it is very painful and ulcerations can occur which may become gangrenous and lead to amputation.

Scleroderma is a disease which causes hardness of the skin and organs, which may damage their blood supply.

For a free information pack on Raynaud's and scleroderma, call freephone 0800 917 2494 or visit www.raynauds.org.uk

Pali gets a pizza the action

PALI Grewal has pushed his speedy dough-stretching skills to the limit, to be crowned the Fastest Pizza Maker in England.

Grewal, 28, from Andover, battled it out against four other English dough masters from Domino's Pizza to secure his tasty triumph in Milton Keynes on Thursday.

Pali, who has been a Domino's Pizza team member for 17 years, prepared individual large (13.5ins) pepperoni, mushroom and cheese pizzas (in that order) in a staggering 58 seconds, outstripping his closest rival by eleven seconds.

With two eagle-eyed master judges on hand to oversee proceedings, the quality of each contestant's work proved every bit as important as speed. Strict competition rules require every dough base to be free from holes, while the appropriate toppings must be evenly distributed, making for a mouth-watering treat.

Pali, who was presented with the prestigious award, could now go on to compete in the final of the UK and Ireland's Fastest Pizza Maker, in Wales on Monday. The event will see the eight fastest qualifiers from five heats (Scotland, England, Wales, Northern Ireland and Republic of Ireland) go head-to-head.

"It's a true honour to be crowned the Fastest Pizza Maker in England," says Pali. "All Domino's team members are well accustomed to speedy-pizza making, so we're certainly not short of practice but I'm really delighted to have gone one step further, and hope to fly the flag for England at the final."

Patricia Thomas, operations director of Domino's Pizza said: "The Fastest Pizza Maker competition is now in its 26th year and as Pali's phenomenal performance proved, Domino's Pizza employees are showing no signs of slowing up.

"It takes a great deal of skill and practice to hand-stretch our fresh dough balls and evenly sauce and top them with just the right amount of ingredients, let alone doing it at record speed.

"This competition is a great way of showing our commitment to getting piping hot pizza to our customers as quickly and safely as possible, not to mention rewarding all those who make great tasting pizzas every day."

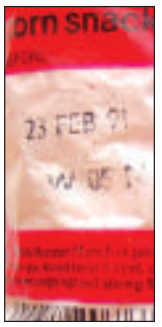
A Monster loss as eBay pulls listing

On-line snack seller in a pickle and out of pocket



BY ALICIA BABAEE
alicia.babae@mk-news.co.uk

THE sale of an 18-year-old packet of pickled onion flavour Monster Munch crisps was banned by eBay last week.

Stony Stratford resident Dan Cook, 30, came across the unopened vintage treat in his bedroom cupboard ten years ago at his parents' house.

The graphic designer kept the crisps safe and decided to sell them on the auction website following a bet with his sister.

The snack, which had a sell by date of 1991 and cost just a few pence at that time, reached an impressive £21 in the on-line auction which ended on Wednesday.

But the item was pulled from the auction at the last minute.

Mr Cook said: "Unfortunately, the eBay police decided to pull the listing at the 11th hour.

"They have indicated that I may have breached some of their terms regarding the sale of food, which is highly regulated.

"I'm dissapointed with this as they was a clear disclaimer that under no circumstances should they be eaten, as they are no longer fit for human consumption – they were also listed in the collectibles category as opposed to food."

More than 3,000 people looked at the item.

In his item description Mr Cook wrote: "1990&.. The first series of The Simpsons came to our TV screens, Macaulay Culkin was left 'Home Alone' in cinemas. Vanilla Ice hit the charts, and Margaret Thatcher resigned. 1990 was also the year that this unique bag of Monster Munch was born!

"I discovered them, unopened, around 10 years ago in the back of my bedroom cupboard.

"It may not be the holy grail, but I was excited by the shiny 'discovery' I had unearthed.

"The thought of throwing them in the bin made me feel strangely uneasy and I felt compelled to put them somewhere safe.

"It's almost unbelievable to think that I've had these since I was 12 years old. I will be 30 next month, and after more than 17 years of service, I feel the burden of protecting these snacks should be bestowed upon on another. Could it be you?"

He warned potential buyers that the pickled onion favourites were not fit for human consumption and were being sold only as a collectible item of memorobilia.

The crisps were made by Smiths, not Walkers as they are these days. Their sell by date was February 23, 1991.

Disabled poverty on MP's agenda

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

A CITY MP is calling for the Government to make tackling the poverty of disabled people a priority.

A new report has found that disabled people are twice as likely to live in poverty as non-disabled people.

Mark Lancaster, MP for Milton Keynes North East, has backed a Parliamentary motion to tackle the problem.

The report, by the Leonard Cheshire Disability charity, also found that on average disabled people's basic day-to-day living costs are 25 per cent higher than those of non-disabled people, because of extra expense on essentials such as mobility aids, care and transport.

Mr Lancaster said: "Leonard Cheshire Disability's report highlights the extent of the links between disability and poverty – I believe that more must be done to break those links.

"Many disabled people can face additional costs, which can leave those on low incomes having to take impossible decisions about whether they pay utility bills or pay for their care, or pay for food or essential mobility equipment.

"I know from speaking to disabled people and their families in Milton Keynes that this is an important issue.

"It simply can't be right that disabled people are twice as likely to live in poverty as non-disabled people, which is why I'm backing this campaign."

Important issue: Mark Lancaster

Car firm fined after ignoring warning

A CAR dealership was fined hundreds of pounds for fly-posting directional signs.

Stratstone Jaguar based at Northfield pleaded guilty by post to two offences at Milton Keynes Magistrates' Court on Friday and were fined £250 per sign and ordered to pay £463 costs to Milton Keynes Council.

A-boards were placed in Childs Way and Northfield Drive on December 4 but the company had not got permission from the council to put the signs out.

Safer Communities manager Pete Roberts was disappointed that a large car dealership had failed to take the appropriate steps to stay within the law.

He said: "Over the past year we have issued a warning, then a fixed penalty notice and now finally we have had to go to court to stop this company from putting out these A-boards without permission. It is frustrating that we were given very little choice on this occasion other than to take this business to court."

Do not leave your family's future to chance.

Cranfield University is co-ordinating a three-year project to help tackle the impact of extreme weather. Solutions could include taking siestas if Britain gets warmer, to redesigning whole cities. Last year Stony Stratford High Street was passable only by boat

Mad dogs and Englishmen go out in the midday sun

rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

SIESTAS could become part of daily life in the UK as local scientists debate possible solutions for tackling severe weather.

Cranfield University is co-ordinating a three-year project to develop a 'toolkit' including strategies to reduce the impact of floods, heatwaves and storms.

The interactive on-line toolkit could be used by Government, emergency services, urban planners, small businesses and local communities.

It will estimate likely future extreme weather events and will help organisations to devise strategies to mitigate the devastating impact and costs of such events.

Dr Gavin Wood, from the Natural Resources Department at Cranfield University, said: "There is growing concern that the cost of managing extreme weather events and their impacts on society will rise.

"The UK summer floods of 2007, which cost the insurance industry over £3bn and continues to impact on the local communities, provided a stark indication of what may become a regular occurrence.

"As independent scientists we're ideally placed to open up informed discussion and provide details on how to tackle problems, which could range from adapting social norms such as taking siestas if Britain gets warmer, to full-blown engineering solutions like redesigning whole cities."

The £1.6 million Community Resilience to Extreme Weather (CREW) project will be funded by The Engineering and Physical Sciences Research Council.

Students at hazeley School will be able to gain high level IT qualifications

Software giant sponsors school

HAZELEY School in Milton Keynes is to benefit from a £25,000 sponsorship package from software giant Oracle.

The secondary school is being funded to become an Oracle Academy which allows students to gain high level IT qualifications.

The training will enable MK students as young as 16 to achieve a first year degree level qualification and even go on to become a certified Oracle Associate.

"This is a fantastic opportunity for our students," said headteacher Iain Denning.

"The training offered is superb and the students are very enthusiastic to be part of such a sophisticated and successful project by Oracle."

The Oracle academy programme allows students to study on-line and teachers at the school are also being put through an intense nine week training schedule.

Christopher Binns of Oracle said: "The software that the students at Hazeley will use is based on a business course we provide to large businesses such as banks. It has been tailored for school students and it will give them a greater understanding of how business works and increase their IT and technical capabilities, which is something they will need in the future no matter what career path they take."

A major benefit from the sponsorship is that it boosts the school's fundraising efforts to become a specialist science college. Government criteria to bid for a specialism states that a school must raise £50,000 and the Oracle package means the school is almost there.

Iain Denning added: "It's good news all round. Having a science specialism will bring enormous benefits to the school and the community."

Club assault: A 20-year-old man was taken to hospital with facial injuries after being attacked in Mood nightclub

Police in hunt for club attack gang

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

SEVEN men are wanted for questioning after a clubber was assaulted in the city centre.

The 20-year-old victim was taken to hospital with facial injuries after being attacked in Mood nightclub.

Between 1.30am and 2.30am on Sunday a man bumped into him and asked if he 'had a problem', before attacking him.

Police are now reviewing CCTV footage from the club and the surrounding areas.

They want to speak to five white men and two Asian men aged between 18 and 21-years.

One man has close-shaven brown hair and was wearing a brown and white stripy jumper.

The second man had the same style and colour hair and was wearing a white T-shirt.

The third man has mousy brown hair and the fourth man has blonde hair and was wearing a light blue t-shirt with buttons and a round neck.

The fifth man is Asian, tall and was wearing a stripy jumper.

The sixth man is Asian, short and was wearing a black and white stripy jumper.

The seventh man is blonde and was also wearing a stripy jumper.

PC Scott Dempsey said: "If anyone saw this group of men similar to the description in Moods on Saturday night or the early hours of Sunday morning, or saw the assault, contact Thames Valley Police or Crimestoppers as your information could help with the police investigation."

PC Dempsey can be contacted on 08458 505505 or call Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555111.

MUSIC REVIEWS

GREAT DJ
Ting Tings

LET'S say you were in a pop band, and you wanted to get your songs heard.

If you had the money, you could always hire a top music producer, and if you had a sound that could be polished into something bland and shiny, you could either send a demo to the major record companies and EMI or alternatively, you could go on X-Factor and be advised on what to sing and what to wear.

Dunno about you, but neither of those options appeal to me much.

There is an alternative, though. If you haven't even got enough money to buy a Beano (I mean seriously, 99p for a Beano? What sort of a world are we living in?), then you haven't got much choice but to go it alone with whatever comes to hand.

You may actually have to play your own instruments.

What you'd end up with may sound something like this – it's rough and ready, and it sounds like it was recorded about as far from Abbey Road as it's possible to get, and after the first listen I really did think that somebody was having a laugh, that's how unimpressed I was.

However, first impressions are sometimes wrong and I decided to have another listen. And another. And another, and before I knew it this three minute lump of mayhem had gone round the dial from 'awful' to 'really good'.

I like hearing stuff that's different, and it'd be a sad state of affairs if the best new artists that Britain had to offer came out of The X-Factor.

It's songs like this that keep me writing this column, you know.

DENIAL
Sugarbabes

OF course, if you've got the backing of a major label, this is the sort of thing you can come out with.

Do you know what, this isn't bad either. Obviously, something from Sugababes 3.0 is always going to be a bit glossier than the Ting Tings single, but it's certainly the best thing they've released from the current album.

Mind you, About You Now was no great shakes and Change plodded along until it got to the end, so really to top those all this had to do was show a bit of life and that's what it's done.

There are definitely worse things to listen to than this.

TOCA'S MIRACLE 2008
Fragma

I REALLY thought we'd finally seen the end of record companies whacking the year onto the end of song titles after giving the tune a bit of an overhaul.

I suppose it's marginally better than the convention of spelling the word remix as RMX, but maybe I'm just old-fashioned.

At least this time round, the new mix is more of a respectful update by someone who liked the originals rather than a slapdash job by a bunch of cowboys.

It ends a bit suddenly, but aside from that this is alright.

The original version didn't do too shabbily when it came out, it even managed a fortnight at No1 eight years ago (if you think two weeks at the top isn't much of an achievement, during 2000 over 40 singles reached the top, but only seven managed to stay there and one of those was Bob the Builder which really sums up the state of popular music at the time), and even though I can't see this version doing as well, I'd be surprised if it doesn't at least manage a respectable showing.

"I had been to a slimming club, but didn't like the group element and the food plans didn't fit my social life."

I was over 14 1/2 stone and miserable. I was a snackaholic eating the wrong foods on the run. I was stressed and comfort eating – my weight just kept creeping up from a comfortable size 14 to a 16 and then size 18/20.

I needed to do something! I could never find nice clothes to fit me so I would spend a fortune on shoes and handbags.

I was desperate and SureSlim promised me my life back and the ability to take control.

I started the plan in April and was amazed how easily I lost my weight steadily (despite having a ten day holiday), and in September I hit my target weight and celebrated by shopping. I can now buy the clothes I always wanted to – all in a size 10!

IN THE GARDEN

Mad in March

MARCH is a really busy time in the gardening calendar.

Not only are there all the maintenance jobs to do like, pruning shrubs, tidying beds and starting on the lawn, but we also need to prepare bulbs and seeds for the season ahead.

One of the most rewarding jobs is sowing seeds to grow your own fruit and vegetables.

If you follow a few simple guidelines you will be rewarded with some great crops this summer.

STRAWBERRIES

Home-grown strawberries planted now should fruit this year. Choose several different varieties to spread the harvest season from June until late summer.

Plants should be spaced 45cm (18in) apart in rows about 75cm (2.5ft) apart.

When working out how much space you will need, remember that you'll need enough room to get between rows for picking. If you haven't got room for a bed, try growing them in the new strawberry grow bag, pots or even a hanging basket!

TOMATOES

TOMATOES are one fruit (yes they are a fruit) that no garden should be without.

These days there is a tomato for everyone, from the huge continental beefsteak to Italian plum and tiny tumbling cherry tomatoes.

Most can be grown outside either in the ground, in containers, grow bags or even hanging baskets

Tomatoes are easy to grow from seed; alternatively you can wait a little longer and buy small plants.

To grow from seed scatter seeds thinly across the surface of 7.5cm (3in) pots filled with compost and cover with a thin layer of vermiculite. This helps to keep the compost warm.

Label your pots and put on a windowsill. After about 8 weeks the seedlings need to be moved into individual 7.5cm (3in) pots.

As soon as roots come through the drainage holes re-pot into a 12.5cm (5in) pot. When the first flowers appear, plant into their final home and secure to a cane.

It's important to support the plant so keep tying it on to the cane as it grows.

Tomatoes must be watered regularly and never dry out or they may get 'blossom end rot'.

They also really thrive if fed regularly so feed weekly with tomato fertiliser.

As they grow nip out any side shoots. When you have four branches of flowers, (trusses) nip out top of plant.

If you don't have a lot of space in the garden or want to use a patio, grow bags are an ideal solution.

To avoid problems with disease use new bags each year.

The new giant grow bags allow more plants per bag and are less likely to dry out.

Loosen and spread the compost out by shaking the bag. Don't forget to pierce the bottom for drainage.

Cut out the plastic on top and scoop out compost from each square leaving a hole big enough for the root ball of your plant. Put a plant in each hole and refill around it with compost. The top of each root ball should be just below the

JOBS TO DO IN MARCH

■ Plant shallot sets in early March, spacing them at 15cm (6in) intervals in rows 30cm (12in) apart. Onion sets can be planted out later in the month.

■ This is an ideal time to plant new evergreens, conifers and hedges. Planting early helps the plants to establish quickly.

■ Pruning: cut one or two flowering shoots from large mahonias after flowering. The stems of dogwoods, willows, hardy fuchsias and ceratostigma should also be pruned back hard. Cut Buddleia davidii to emerging shoots lower down the plant, shaping to control size. (This can be drastic, a 10ft plant to a 2ft plant, but it will regrow in just one year, and you will have bigger flowers, honest!)

■ Wash greenhouse glass, cold frames and cloches inside and out with soapy water to clean away any build-up of dirt. This ensures your plants get the most light at a dull time of year.

■ Use a pressure washer or an organic or chemical cleaner to clean paths, steps, paving and patios.

Bellway Homes opens the door to affordability at Aqua in Fenny Stratford, Milton Keynes.

Housebuilder Bellway is taking a head-on approach to the affordability with a home purchase scheme called Opening Doors. Bellway will offer customers the chance to buy a new home for 75% of the current market value.

Opening Doors is an innovative scheme specifically designed to reduce by a quarter the financial burden of buying a new home. The offer is available on selected homes at Bellway's Aqua development in Fenny Stratford.

Commenting on the scheme, Chris Edginton, Sales Director at Bellway Northern Home Counties, said: "We have looked very carefully at how we can improve the financial situation for new home buyers. Opening Doors is unique in the way that it provides 100% ownership but reduces the cost of borrowing in the early years when most new home owners are more financially stretched."

If you're looking to buy in Fenny Stratford, you're in luck as the Opening Doors scheme is available on a number of homes at Bellway Homes' Aqua development. If you are looking for a two bedroom apartment priced at £175,000 you will only have to find £131,250 now, meaning that the remaining 25% is deferred for 10 years. There is no interest or rent payable on the 25% funded by Bellway. Another example is a one bedroom apartment priced at £145,000 which you can buy for only £108,750.

Situated on Watling Street, Aqua is a development of one- and two-bedroom apartments situated on the south side of Milton Keynes in the area of Fenny Stratford. As the name suggests, the development is adjacent to the Grand Union Canal and bordered on the other side by the River Ouzel with water meadows beyond.

Fenny Stratford is a small busy town on the edge of Milton Keynes. With a small street of shops, the town has a warm community feel. The town boasts a variety of eateries and bars as well as its own cafe and delicatessen. There is a modern retail park nearby and there are a number of supermarkets in nearby Milton Keynes including, while the town itself is a major UK shopping hub with superb malls.

Local transport links are very good. At just half a mile from Aqua is the A5 while the M1 is 4 miles from the development. Nearby Bletchley main line station offers fast and frequent service to London in around 40-45 minutes.

For further information on schemes to help you move, contact a sales consultant on 01908 646486.

Jeans means productivity

BRITAIN is dressing down at work with more than a third of workers wearing jeans into the office.

Nearly 40 per cent of workers have been given permission to ditch their suits and wear casual clothes instead.

Two thirds of employees say they feel more comfortable in jeans and 40 per cent reckon they are more productive as a result.

A rise in the web-based companies run by trendy young entrepreneurs and a more relaxed attitude to doing business is behind the shift in office attire.

The trend emerged in a study of 3,000 people by high street chain Debenhams.

It follows the announcement that TV favourite Natasha Kaplinsky will be sporting a laid back look when she becomes the £3million face of Five News this month.

A spokesman for Debenhams said: "It's incredible how work wear trends and people's attitudes to denim have both changed.

"By dressing more casually in the workplace, it presents a more approachable look and is often perceived as more up to the minute."

In the last five years, office attire has seen a revolutionary shift with almost a third more Brits adopting the denim look at work.

Yet for one in 10, jeans are still only accepted in the workplace on Fridays.

The lean towards jeans comes hot on the heels of the demise of the old fashioned tie, which is no longer seen as a 'must have' in the office environment.

Many businesses feel that a more laid back open collar approach to the boardroom gives the impression of being friendly, approachable and less formal.

Britons now have a staggering £13 billion worth of jeans in their wardrobe according to the research.

Denim-lovers own five pairs each and with each pair costing an over-age £55 – that means that peolple have got a stash of the legendary trousers worth £275.

And that total is rising all the time as the Debenhams poll found on average we buy an extra two pairs of jeans every year.

A whopping 80 per cent of Brits say jeans are their staple wardrobe and almost three quarters admit they would be lost without them.

The average person will wear their jeans for an incredible 56 hours a week.

Another 46 per cent put them on as soon as they get in from work.

STANDARDS SUB-COMMITTEE HEARING
8 FEBRUARY 2008
Referral of an allegation that Alderman Paul Bartlett was in breach of the Members' Code of Conduct
Case reference SBE 13644.05
The Local Authorities (Code of Conduct) (Local Determination) Regulations 2003
Summary of findings for publication in one or more newspapers circulating in the area of the authority concerned
Pursuant to regulation 8 of the Local Authorities (Code of Conduct) (Local Determination) Regulations 2003

Allegation:
The allegation referred to the Hearing was that Alderman Paul Bartlett (former Councillor) had failed to comply with Paragraphs 2, 4 and 5 of the Member's Code of Conduct as a result of a complaint made by the Head of a regional branch of the Open College Network (OCN) (Maybrook House, Bletchley) regarding an incident which took place at these premises on 25 November 2005.

Background
The allegation was passed by the Standards Board for England which was passed to the Monitoring Officer at Milton Keynes Council. As the Monitoring Officer is not eligible to conduct the pre-hearing process and investigate the complaint, the matter was referred to the Head of Internal Audit & Risk Management for investigation. The investigating Officer produced a report which was referred for determination at a local hearing of the Milton Keynes Standards Committee.
The hearing took place on 8th February 2008 at the Civic Centre, Milton Keynes.
The Hearing was chaired by Mr C. Fogden (Independent Member) and membership of the Sub-Committee also comprised Mrs E Watson (Independent Member) and Councillor V McPake (Milton Keynes Councillor).
Alderman Paul Bartlett attended and represented himself.
The investigating Officer was present at the meeting and he had requested the attendance of a witness, Mrs J Vandor.
The decision is set out as follows

Decision on any breach of the Code
Paragraph 2 of the Code of Conduct states that
"A Member must treat other with respect".
The Sub-Committee agreed that Paragraph 2 of the Code of Conduct had been breached in that Alderman Bartlett had requested information from OCN staff without justification but relying on the status of councillor to obtain information. This may reasonably be seen as a form of bullying.
When invited into another person's premises, to act in such a manner as Alderman Bartlett did, causes intimidation to be felt as per the finding of facts.
Alderman Bartlett failed to leave the OCN premises when asked to do so and indeed, did not leave until a warning of police involvement.
Further, Alderman Bartlett had threatened the funding of the organization and was potentially seeking to act on that threat by involvement of the perceived Council Director.
Paragraph 4 of the Code of Conduct states that "A member must not in his official capacity or any other circumstance, conduct himself in a manner which could reasonably be regarded as bringing his office of authority into disrepute".
The Sub-Committee resolved that Paragraph 4 of the Code of Conduct had been breached in that Alderman Bartlett used his office as Councillor to gain entry into OCN premises and to act in an improper manner
Accordingly, Councillor Alderman Bartlett's actions on 25th November 2005 could reasonably be regarded as bringing his office or authority into disrepute and thereby constituted a failure to comply with Paragraph 4 of the Council's Code of Conduct.

Decision on any Sanctions to be imposed
The Sub-Committee considered the following issues raised by Alderman Bartlett in mitigation:
- He maintained that his intention for visiting the OCN premises was to help others in respect of unnecessary wheel clamping.
- That since the incident on 25 November 2005, he had purchased hearing aides which resulted in him speaking at a much lower level than he generally spoke prior to the purchase.
- He indicated that he had stood for election on numerous occasions and had built his political career on the principles of honesty and integrity.
- As a representative of the residents of Stony Stratford for over 15 years, he had earned the respect of his constituents and Members of the Council.
- He advised that the honorary title of Alderman had been given to him in recognition of the eminent service he had rendered to the Council over the years and that awarding of the title had been agreed by the Council unanimously.
- He felt that there had been significant delay in processing the complaint and that this had a detrimental effect on his well being and that of his family.
- That the complaint had impacted on his reputation as an effective former councillor.

Right to Appeal
Alderman Paul Bartlett has the right to apply in writing to the president of the Adjudication Panel for England for permission to appeal the standards committee's finding. The president of the Adjudication Panel must receive written notice requesting permission to appeal within 21 days of the member's receipt of notification of the standards committee's finding.

MK MOTORING

Be bold – experience the Peugeot 308

THE instantly recognisable, and suitably bold Peugeot 308 brings a level of style to the family hatchback market which is unrivalled in its class.

At first glance the new 308 does almost look cat-like, with sweeping headlights that slide along the side of the car, a V shaped bonnet and a huge front grill which seems to be smiling - or bearing its teeth - depending on how you look at it.

On closer inspection however, it takes on a more purposeful stance. Being both wider and longer than the preceding 307, it commands more attention on the road, which also provides additional comfort and safety to its occupants.

Once inside, the 308 really comes into its own. Not only is the car exceptionally well put together, it has been done so with the driver in mind. Everything is within easy reach when needed, being exactly where you imagine it should be.

Perrys Peugeot sales manager, Marcus Reynolds said: "Since its launch in September, the 308 has quickly established itself a must have car.

"This is partly down to bold feline looks which give it a sporty and firm presence on the road, but also down to its everyday practicality and functionality - it just works."

Marcus continued: "Sitting behind the wheel of a car, you want to experience the same excitement you felt when you first saw it, which made you get inside in the first place. The interior of the Peugeot 308 has been designed to do just that."

The V shape of the cabin is planned to reflect that of the exterior, while touches like the aluminium gear knob and instrument dials (optional extra depending on model) make the car extremely tactile.

As a family hatchback, one of the main priorities in the design of the new 308 was space and comfort. Supported sports seats in the front, raised back seats and a dashboard that is 30? higher ensure that no matter where you sit there is ample room.

As a driver's car, the 308 delivers, no matter what the requirement. A rigid chassis, low centre of gravity and wide wheelbase mean the 308 hugs the road. The steering is responsive, yet light, making it as convenient around town as it is exciting on the open road.

Six engines are offered in the Peugeot 308; three diesel and three petrol. The petrol units have been co-developed by Peugeot and BMW, and are available as a 1.4 and two 1.6s, offering 95, 120 and 150bhp respectively. The diesels come in two 1.6 variants, producing 90bhp, 110bhp or 136bhp.

For more information about the 308, or to book a test drive, please call the new car sales team at Perrys on Bilton Road, Bletchley, on 0845 478 6487

GRIMSBY TOWN

League Two
Friday, March 1. KO 7.45pm
Blundell Park

AFTER a mixed start to their campaign Grimsby are finally on the up, but not without the odd blip.

The Mariners had an excellent run of 11 games unbeaten ended with a surprising 4-1 home defeat to Dagenham and Redbridge.

When the Dons hosted Grimsby back in November Aaron Wilbraham scored MK's fastest goal, finding the back of the net on the 23rd second.

Mark Wright, currently recovering from a hamstring tear, scored the Dons' second and Grimsby were unable to find a response.

The Dons will have to keep their wits about them if they are to keep out the Mariners' top striker Danny North, who has scored nine goals this season.

MOVED to Monday night to accommodate SKY cameras and has all the ingredients to be a fantastic game.

Chesterfield have been there or there about in the play-off places for the majority of the season and will be looking to secure a chance at League One in their final 10 games.

When the Spireites came to stadiummk in November, they walked away with three points, but it was a result that inspired Paul Ince's side to a run of nine games unbeaten.

Keith Andrews will be available after his two-match ban.

MK Dons will now host Hereford United on Tuesday, April 15 at stadiummk with kick-off at 7.45pm.

The fixture was set to take place on Saturday, March 29, but has been rearranged due to the Dons' progression to the Johnstone's Paint Trophy final.

DEFENDER Danny Swailes has been named in the League Two Team of the Week.

The centre back scored the winning goal in the Dons' match against Chester City at the weekend.

FORMER Dons strike force Izale McLeod and Clive Platt have been reunited.

McLeod has joined Colchester United from fellow Championship side Charlton on a one-month loan.

In the 2006-07 season the McLeod-Platt combination racked up 42 goals for MK Dons and the U's, currently rock bottom of the league, will be hoping they can reform that magic in their fight against relegation.

McLeod was a 39th minute substitute in Colchester's 1-0 defeat to Wolves while Platt played the full 90.

Ex-Dons goalkeeping coach Ademola Bankole has also registered as a player for the U's after reserve keeper Mark Cousins was taken ill.

Dons' win kiss of death to manager

BY SIMONE CORGAN
simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

ANOTHER League Two manager was given his marching orders after losing to MK Dons.

Chester City sacked Bobby Williamson just 24 hours after losing 1-0 to Paul Ince's side.

The same happened to then Lincoln manager John Schofield back in October after the Red Imps were on the wrong end of a 4-0 result at stadiummk.

To be fair to Williamson, a defeat to high-flying MK Dons was hardly the worst result of the weekend, nor was it a match his side were expected to win.

But with just one win in 14 games and having plummeted from second in the league to 17th it was only a matter of time until the axe fell.

Williamson's dismissal came after a poor dip in form, something the Dons are only too aware of themselves.

At one time the Dons were running away with the league and 11 points clear, a lead that has proved vital in the past month during the blip.

Having been so far in front a string of bad results has cost the Dons, but fans will be looking at Chester knowing it could have been a lot worse.

Spot on: Dons keeper Willy Gueret saves Paul Butler's penalty

Now getting the right results with decent performances the Dons seem to be back on track.

And it was a wonder goal from Danny Swailes that effectively ended Williamson's 10 month reign with the Seals.

Swailes' expertly executed volley on the 57th minute, combined with a poor penalty from Chester captain and former Don Paul Butler, was enough to see MK Dons record their first back-to-back win in the League since the start of January.

Yet, the Dons are still suffering the same problem which has caused them a headache since the turn of the year. They are struggling to find the cutting edge in front of gaol.

On Saturday, missing top scorer Mark Wright while suspended Keith Andrews and Dean Lewington were also watching from the stands, it did not matter as the match was decided on a moment of sheer magic from a centre back.

Colin Cameron sent two efforts wide, while Jemal Johnson and Lloyd Dyer both tested Chester goalkeeper John Danby.

And defender Swailes showed his team mates just how to strike the ball when he sent a right-footed volley from Cameron's corner flying into the net.

The decisive goal came just seven minutes after Butler failed to convert a penalty, earned when Jordan Hadfield was judged to have bundled over Chris Holdroyd, with Willy Gueret yet again the spot-kick hero as he went low to tip away at his left post.

But the chances going spare have not gone unnoticed in the Dons camp and it is something assistant boss Ray Mathias says they will be working tirelessly on to put right.

"We've got to get batter in front of goal," Mathias added, "We've got to be more ruthless, more clinical and take our chances to better our goal difference.

"Credit to them teams who have worked their way back in. We had a bit of a blip, they took advantage of it, but it's up to us to try and open that gap again."

FANS' FAVOURITE WRITES

PAUL MITCHELL

IT seems as the end of the season draws closer by the game, and the league table seems to get tighter every time you check it, games become all about results and maybe not so much the performance.

I have to say though, on Saturday afternoon against Chester we got both.

We created plenty of chances against a team intent on putting every player available behind the ball.

No one can blame Chester as this isn't unheard of when it comes to away team tactics at stadiummk.

I know there have been a million different points of view on why some of are best performances have been away from home.

I think this is mainly due to the negative formations of the teams that travel to play us at our place. Like I've said before, it's a great mark of respect but it certainly doesn't make great viewing for the fans.

What we did brilliantly Saturday was kept our patience and played the game at the highest tempo possible.

This tends to tire the opposition as it's always easier to run when you have the ball, which in turn reduces the chasing team's concentration and gaps start to appear.

They did on Saturday and we managed to take advantage.

With suspensions and injuries the squad is really being tested to the max, but this is where the Gaffer's ability to spot a talented player has come to the fore.

Bringing in the likes of John Miles, Jordan Hadfield and Jake Livermore has been a master stroke and he's done it for next to nothing.

As I'm no maths whiz, I can't tell you how much the manager has spent, but it would be one league table we certainly wouldn't be top of!

From now to the end of the season there will be teams fighting for promotion or trying to keep the threat of relegation at bay, so it's going to take everybody's best possible efforts to succeed.

See you all soon

Lightning get set for final knockout blow

MK LIGHTNING are one match away from the Knockout Cup final.

Tomorrow they will host Guildford Flames with a three goal advantage following a 6-3 win in the first-leg.

Lightning fans will be desperate to reach the final to add a glimmer of hope to what has been a grim few months.

It was a superb performance from Nick Poole and his side at Guildford, one which they must match if they are to keep the Flames at bay.

Unfortunately, the cup display could not be repeated at the weekend as Lightning slipped to their ninth straight league defeat.

The first clash with Guildford was one of Lightning's best all round performances in weeks with a storming start setting a bench mark in their match.

Gary Clarke netted four minutes in and ten minutes later Ales Parez fired in a power play to give Lightning a two goal advantage.

The Flames pulled one back just before the break with Taras Foremsky striking from Milos Melicherick's assist.

But a brilliant second period allowed Lightning to tighten their grip on proceedings as Clarke and Parez both added to the scoreline and Nick Poole made it 5-1 on the 35th minute.

Guildford were able to narrow the deficit in the final period as Vaclav Zavoral and Neil Liddiard responding to Ross Bowers' early goal for Lightning.

With three goals in their favour Lightning's fate will be in their own hands tomorrow night and to edge out Guildford they will need to put two poor results against Romford to the back of their minds.

Ales Parez mixes it in front of the Romford net Picture Jez Tibbetts

On Saturday Clarke and Matt Towalski had given Lightning a 2-1 advantage but Romford Raiders pulled two back in the final ten minutes to steal the points.

And the same happened at Romford on Sunday, despite Lightning looking favourites to win with a 4-1 lead five minutes from time.

Mikko Skinnari struck twice with Poole and Toni Alasaarela each finding the net to give Lightning what appeared to be an insurmountable lead with just over ten minutes remaining.

But the wheels fell off in spectacular fashion as Romford bagged four goals in five minutes to claim victory from the jaws defeat.

■ LIGHTNING host Guildford tomorrow night, face-off is at 7.45pm. On Saturday Chelmsford come to Planet Ice, face-off at 7pm, before Lightning travel to Bracknell Bees on Sunday, face-off is at 6pm.

MK LIONS 78

LEAGUE leaders Newcastle Eagles avenged their BBL Cup Final defeat as they beat MK Lions 87-78

It was the first time the two sides have met in the league this season, but in the BBL Cup back in January the Lions were the stronger team.

Since then the Lions have fallen from joint first to fourth and Newcastle handed them their first back-to-back defeats in the league since October.

Former Eagles star Mike New looked determined to take two points from his old team as he, at times, kept the Lions within touching distance.

The Lions, trailing 8-2 in the opening stage were dealt a huge blow as they lost the injured Tony Windless who joined veteran Shawn Jamison in the sidelines.

Dru Spinks and Kevin Griffin rallied the team as they combined to take the Lions within a point in the final minute before Robert Youngblood netted a free-throw to tie the score at 16-16.

In the second quarter the Eagles started to take a grip with player-coach Fabulous Flournoy scoring four points in a 9-0 tear. After a brief time-out the Lions responded with Terrell Brown posting seven, yet once again Newcastle broke the game open with a 13-0 tear to lead 45-30 at half-time.

New had the Lions within six points as he added five alongside scores from Youngblood and Yorick Williams but the hosts stretched their lead at 64-48 , before the Lions ensured that they were still in the game in the decisive quarter as they netted the last five points of the third.

The Lions gave their all in the final stage with Williams and Spinks nailing three pointers either side of a basket from Griffin.

However, the Eagles' Lynard Stewert sealed the result with ten points to ensure the Lions trail the BBL leaders by ten points with ten games remaining.

■ ON Friday the Lions host Leicester Riders at Bletchley Leisure Centre, tip-off 7.30pm. on Sunday they travel to Cheshire Jets, tip-off is at 5.30pm.

Bletchley boy does good

ARSENAL'S Mark Randall is earning high praise from Burnley boss Owen Coyle, where he is currently on loan.

The 18-year-old from Bletchley joined the Championship side from the Gunners on January transfer deadline day and has made five appearances.

The midfielder has impressed with Arsenal but went to the Clarets to gain first team experience.

Coyle said: "We know he's got a terrific range of passing and it's always pleasing when a kid so young comes into that stage and against some quality players he certainly looked the business. I think there's stuff that we are trying to actively work on in his game to improve him, but I think everyone can see when he does get on the ball he's a very gifted footballer and he's just got a natural flow to his play."

Local football

STONY STRATFORD TOWN were knocked out of the Berks and Bucks Intermediate Cup as they lost 4-0 to North Bucks premier division's PB (Milton Keynes) in the semi-final.

In South Midlands division one NEW BRADWELL ST PETER are in third following a 2-0 win over Brache Sparta while WINSLOW UNITED are still rock bottom despite a 1-1 draw with Cheshunt Reserves.

BUCKINGHAM ATHLETIC are in 12th place after a 1-1 draw with Harpenden Town.

NEWPORT PAGNELL were beaten 5-0 by Sleaford Town and remain 15th in the United Counties premier division.

Moorehouse is 'realistic' over Olympic hopes

BY SIMONE CORGAN
simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

MILTON Keynes will have to pull out all the stops to attract athletes for the 2012 Olympic games.

Seven venues across the city have been listed as potential training centres in the pre-Games training camp guide but still have to persuade competitors that the facilities are ideal for them.

And gold medal-winning Olympic swimmer Adrian Moorehouse MBE believes Milton Keynes needs to start its planning now on how to secure their part in the London Games.

"It's important that the community starts to network and thinking about how we might attract people rather than just hoping we're picked from the guide."

Moorehouse is currently chairman of the Bucks and Milton Keynes Olympic Co-Ordinating Group (BMKOCG) which was set up to ensure the local community benefits as much as possible from the 2012 Olympics.

While the dreams of superstar athletes walking around the city may be easy to imagine, Moorehouse has a more realistic idea.

"We're not going to get the likes of the Americans because they'll probably go to the bigger cities such as Manchester or Birmingham but what we may attract are medium sized countries."

Milton Keynes Sports Club has been selected for archery and hockey, MK Centre of Cycling Excellence for road cycling and BMX while Radcliffe Leisure Complex has been chosen for basketball, fencing and indoor volleyball.

Woughton on the Green and Tattenhoe Pavillion have both been selected for hockey, Stantonbury Campus Athletics Stadium for athletics and stadiummk for basketball and football.

> We're not going to get the likes of the Americans ... but what we may attract are medium sized countries
> – Olympic Co-Ordinating Group chairman Adrian Moorehouse

Getting accepted into the official guide is one thing, getting the athletes there is another. Milton Keynes will have to go out and convince other countries that the venues are the ideal places to prepare.

Having spent time in training camps in the 1980s Moorehouse believes he knows what will be the selling point.

"As an athlete the key attraction would be access. It's basically a case of handing over a facility to an Olympic training squad.

"As a former-swimmer I wouldn't like my training to be interrupted half-way through by a mother and baby session. It sounds selfish but pre-Olympics I think athletes have to be.

"The relationship and welcome people give you is also vital. Are you wanted? Are you welcome? Is it exciting for the community to see you walking around in your tracksuits?"

Skipper is league Player of the Year

MK Dons skipper Keith Andrews has been named League Two Player of the Year.

Simply the best

The mid-fielder received the accolade at the Football League Awards on Sunday night at London's Grosvenor House Hotel, holding off competition from Chesterfield striker Jack Lester and Peterborough's Aaron Mclean.

Andrews, named as the highest ranked League Two player in FourFourTwo's Top 50 Football League Players, becomes the second Dons player to pick up the award in successive years, following Izale McLeod's success in 2006.

The 27-year-old, with 11 goals to his name this season, has been instrumental in the Dons' promotion push and will lead the team out for their first appearance at Wembley at the end of the month in the Johnstone's Paint Trophy final.

The Football League Awards will be shown on Sky Sports 1 on Thursday, March 6 at 8pm.

■ LAST night MK Dons' opponents in the Johnstone's Paint Trophy final at Wembley were confirmed as Grimsby Town.

The Mariners beat Morecambe 1-0 over two-legs and will now line up against the Dons for JPT glory on Sunday, March 30.
